

Healing hands

Dr Eric Pearl has been credited with miracle healings – but he says everyone can do it

Five-year-old Brian had cerebral palsy. He walked on his toes because his heels wouldn't reach the ground, and to get up stairs he had to crawl on all fours. For balance he had to lean on people or furniture. But after half an hour with Dr Eric Pearl he walked across the room like any healthy five year old, then stunned his parents by racing up and down a flight of stairs, on two feet, perfectly straight, without even having to hold the railing.

His mum and dad, both prominent medical professionals, had heard about Eric's amazing yet unorthodox healing successes, and after seeing the miracle results for themselves, took his seminars to learn how to heal in the same way.

'This is not therapy, it's not symptom related, it's not a treatment, and you don't need to come back on a regular basis,' Eric says of Reconnective Healing. 'This is different to any other healing technique. And it's demonstrated itself consistently in the laboratories of science internationally.'

Ten years ago Eric, then a successful LA chiropractor, noticed his patients were receiving unusual healings when he placed his hands near them. A man who had not been able to walk properly stood tall for the first time. A cancer patient stunned doctors when her tumour disappeared. AIDS-related illnesses were cured.

He's still not 100 per cent sure why or how, but the healings have continued, and he has been the subject of extensive medical research which has documented evidence that his Reconnective Healing does work, and is a measurable thing.

'I used to be the last person to believe in all this,' Eric grins. 'I studied, I became a doctor. I wasn't raised to think that if you waved your hands in the air around people healings would take place. I'd never been to tarot readers or read about spirituality. So this was quite a surprise! I wasn't planning on my palms bleeding and blistering and people seeing angels.'

But the healings he has witnessed and been part of encouraged him to continue.

'When the healings started, people asked me to teach it, but I didn't know how. So for several years, six days a week, 10 hours a day, I was in my office, seeing one person at a time. I thought that was the gift.'

'I didn't recognise that the real gift of Reconnective Healing is that once somebody interacts with me, this same ability develops in them. This is not about one person who lives in the US being a special healer. Once you interact with the energies, you'll be able to do what I'm able to do, and possibly more.'

Eric has written The Reconnection, a book which explains Reconnective Healing, how it developed in him and how to activate the energies in yourself.

'This is new. Scientists say it is new frequencies of energy – but it's beyond energy – possibly a whole new bandwidth.'

After 10 years of seeing people cured of terminal illnesses and disease, Eric is still in awe of the healings. Funny, warm and humble, he still isn't sure why he was chosen to bring this method to attention.

'I wouldn't have selected me,' he laughs. 'There are sages, gurus, religious leaders – and there's me, the guy in the corner who's had one martini too many. I'm not the person you'd consider "worthy" of this gift – but that proves that anyone can learn how to heal this way. I also seem to be able to present an issue that is a bit "out there" with a semblance of sanity.'

Eric now spends his days teaching Reconnective Healing around the world.

'I don't have time to do sessions myself anymore, but I can help more people by teaching them to do healings themselves. It's like the old story – you can give a man a fish or you can teach him how to fish.'

By Serene Conneely
Main picture: Mark Mawson

How can you do it?

THE BOOK: Reading The Reconnection has been found to somehow start the 'activation' process, and teaches people how to begin working with the new frequencies. The editor of the book had trouble working on it, because her fingers started to buzz every time she picked it up!

The Reconnection, Hay House, $24.95.
◆ For more information on Eric and his healing, go to www.DrEricPearl.com.

THE SEMINARS: For anyone who wants to seriously work with the energies of Reconnective Healing, the seminars offer a chance for your hands to be attuned to the new frequencies by Eric. Seeing him demonstrate the healings and working in the group will also increase your abilities.
◆ For information on the May seminars in Sydney call Robina Lobb, 0412 017 839, or e-mail robinalobb@iprimus.com.au.